Kforce Government Solutions, Inc. Teams with Lockheed Martin, Awarded FDIC Task Orders

FAIRFAX, Va. – (October 2, 2006) – Kforce Government Solutions Inc. ("KGS"), in partnership with Lockheed Martin, has been awarded two task orders under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") Information Technology Application Services ("ITAS") contract.

“At KGS, we are proud of our capabilities in the delivery of mission-critical data confidence, as well as our ability to provide highly skilled information technology solutions professionals across the federal government,” said Larry Grant, KGS President. “These subcontracts to Lockheed Martin allow KGS to continue as a provider of enterprise data management and application support services to the FDIC.”

The first task order is for information management support services to manage the FDIC’s corporate data and support its Enterprise Information Management ("EIM") program and activities. The three-year task order specifically covers database administration, enterprise architecture and corporate data sharing initiatives, enterprise architecture repository and digital library. The second task order includes consolidated enhancements support for FDIC’s Open Bank systems.

This recent win at Lockheed Martin comes shortly after KGS was awarded a Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") contract to provide information technology management support services under the Enterprise Acquisition Gateway for Leading Edge Solutions ("EAGLE") procurement.
